

Social media guru/Graphics rockstar

Project Title	Social media guru/Graphics rockstar
Project Summary	Channel your social media addiction and your doodling habits and put them to good use!
Country	United States

Project Description

Are you obsessed with social media? Do you spend hours a day lurking on Twitter wondering what everyone is doing? Do you doodle during boring classes? The public affairs office in the State Department's Bureau of International Security and Nonproliferation may be the perfect place for you! We are looking for a social media-savvy college student who wants to channel his/her social media obsession and artistic doodlings, and interest in foreign policy and national security. Our bureau's mission is to keep the world's worst weapons--nukes, chemicals and biological toxins--out of the hands of the worst people. And we need someone to scour social media platforms to find out what people are saying about our issues. We also need a creative soul to find catchy ways to illustrate some cool issues (think missiles and nukes) and other issues that maybe aren't quite as scintillating (think UN resolutions and treaties). If you've got experience in international security or nonproliferation, that's a major bonus.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)

Infographic design

Social media management

Additional Information

For more information, check out our Twitter handle (@StateISN) and our Facebook page (@StateDepartment.ISNBureau). You can also read about us on the Web at www.state.gov/t/isn/index.htm.

Language Requirements

None